FINGER BADLY HURT.

Saturday afternoon the little son Lowell, of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Price, had the misfortune to injure the middle finger on the right hand while at the grocery store with his father by poking his finger up into the coffee mill. The power fortunately had just been turned off and he wanted to understand how the coffee came out, so ran his finger into the mill, tearing most of the flesh from the bone of the first joint. The hurt has been very painful, but the joint has not been removed and unless some trouble sets up, his friends are hoping he can save the finger.

SURPRISE FOR GRACE O'QUINN.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. O'Quinn surprised her daughter, Grace, by asking two or three girl friends over after school, this being her fifteenth birthday.

The dining room was lovely in huge yellow chrysanthemums, a salad course with cake, real coffee and cream, like grown folks, was served, also delicious home-made candy. The surprise was in the way of a handkerchief shower, after luncheon the girls enjoyed a game of croquet.

TRAIN KILLS SHETLAND PONY.
